Song - Instrumental - Texture - Contemplative - Ambience

Wingtip is a writer of unique Songs with exciting and original lyrical content. His songs strike chords with the static and irattic humdrum love, noise and chaos of this crazy and sometimes wonderful 21st century life.

Having played in several great bands, enslaved to recording/production deals with companies that lack the drive and enthusiasm of the Artists they represent WingTip is now working mainly at home on a Mac based studio.

Wingtip has an extensive profile in live and recording work, he is a good all round multi-instrumentalist and has been the founding member of some great bands he has toured played with some other great bands in major recording deals.

WingTip is currently Buskin' his way around the UK. to promote his new Album entitled - Plenty O' Reasons
